SUZANNE CROUGH

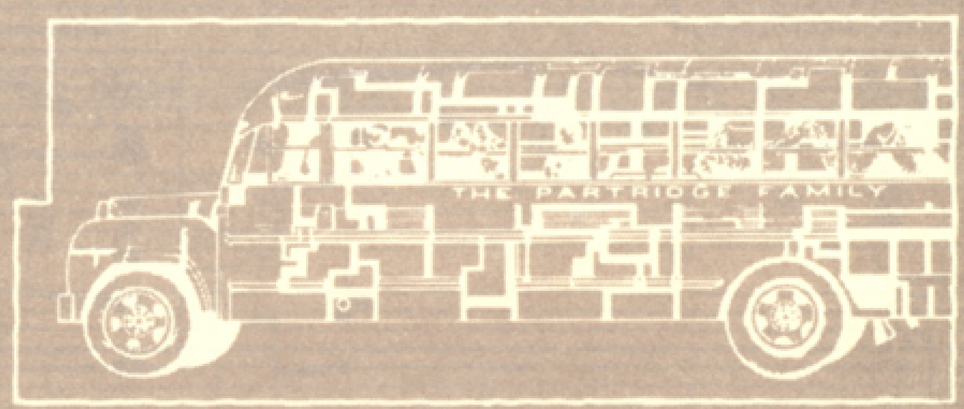
Tracy in Screen Gems' "The Partridge Family"

Suzanne Crough, who is seen in Screen Gems' new family comedy half-hour series with music, "The Partridge Family", starring Shirley Jones debuting this Fall, is perfect for the role. She comes from a large family herself, being the youngest of eight children.

Born on March 6, 1963, at Saint Judes Hospital in Fullerton, California, Suzanne lives with her parents in Anaheim, California. She is the eighth child of Anne (O'Malley) and Wilfred Crough. Her parents moved to California from Canada in 1953. Her mother was born in Scotland and her father in Calgary, Canada. Her family has lived in Anaheim for the past 14½ years where her father owns Scooter Ville.

Suzanne has been making television commercials since she was 5½.

One of Suzanne's older sisters is a stewardess for American Airlines and another is a radiologist at St. John's Hospital in Eureka, California. Two older sisters are working. One is a school teacher in Daly City, California, and the other the head bookkeeper for Skeel Wholesale Hardware Company in Los Angeles.

The younger members of the family include: Gail Marie, a senior at Savenna High School, who has been doing fashion modeling, and her two brothers, Tim, 15, and Pat, 13, who have hopes of becoming actors and both are taking drama courses at private schools.


Suzanne is a first grade student at Dr. Peter Marshall's School and is a good student. Her hobbies are bike riding, mini-bike riding, swimming, climbing trees, horseback riding and playing ball with her brothers. She also loves roller skating and playing with dolls just like any other little girl her age. Her only pets are three guppy fish and a white cat by the name of Johnnie. ¤
