

David's Starry-Eyed Louescope

On April 12th 1950, actress Evelyn Ward gave birth to a son. David Bruce Cassidy was born at 10 a.m. in Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital, New York City, weighing in at 7 lb 15 oz with blue eyes and red hair.

These details may seem to be of no more than passing interest, but it has been proved that plants growing at certain times of the year develop different characteristics to the same plants growing at a different time of the year. It is not unreasonable for even the most scornful reader to accept that the same differences and similarities might also appear among humans. Of course, humans are subject to a lot more diverse influences than plants and so the differences might not be so marked, but astrology helps people to learn about themselves, their capabilities and the suitability of their partners.

Astrology is a science of more than 5,000 years standing, and if you wonder why so many people from the same sign appear different on the surface, just look a little closer and the similarities will appear. But remember, the exact position of the planets at the time of someone's birth repeats itself only once every 25,000 years!

1974 promises to be the most important year for David since 1971, when he first rose to fame. This does not merely mean that he will have an outstanding year career-wise, although this is quite probable, but that whatever happens to him—triumph, tragedy, elation, despair—he will gain a truer understanding of himself that will help him immeasurably AS A PERSON in years to come.

David has always said that he will not marry until he is 30 years old, and although the stars predict great changes and personal happiness around that time, there is a long time to go yet, and true love has a way of defying all logic. So see what 1974 means to David, then check how your sign would react with his should you be lucky enough to meet him.
