

Are you David's kind of girl? Do you have all the qualities David looks for in his special girlfriends?

David loves every single one of his fans, and he'd love to meet and date each one of you. But as that would probably take round about fifty years, it wouldn't really be a very practical idea!

The kind of girl David could really fall for would have to have some rather special qualities—because, after all, David's a rather special kind of guy! Here are the qualities David always looks for in his favourite girlfriends — how many of them do you possess?

David is never turned on to a girl just because she's especially attractive, or has lovely hair or a super figure. He always looks for something much more than that — the kind of things you can only find out when you get to know what someone's like inside.

David's a very happy kind of guy — which you might have guessed by that fantastic smile! — and he loves his girlfriends to be bright and happy, smiling and laughing easily, and always looking on the bright side of things. Of course, if you were going out with David you'd have plenty to be smiling about!

And along with cheerfulness must go kindness and understanding, and also the ability to listen when David just wants to talk something through with someone close to him.

David likes girls with sparkling, free and easy personalities, with just a touch of zinness and, of course, a good sense of humour. He likes girls who are individuals, and who never try to be like anyone else. Most of all he likes girls who are fun!

David never likes to see girls wearing lots of make-up — he always goes for the fresh, natural look. He doesn't like to spend time with girls who are constantly looking in mirrors and adding a spot more eye shadow, or rushing off to comb their hair after they've been out in a slight breeze.

David loves girls who can cook!

David likes girls to have minds of their own, and he'd never expect a girl to agree with everything he said. And that brings us onto the subject of arguments — the kind of friendly little quarrels that everyone has from time to time. David doesn't mind good-humoured arguments like these, but his ideal girl would always be ready to 'kiss and make up' as soon as the discussion was over. Sulking and brooding for hours on end is guaranteed to turn David off any girl!

David loves healthy girls with loads of energy — girls who enjoy going off into the country and taking long walks in the fresh air, who like to go horsinground or bicycling. David loves all sports, watching or playing, and he likes to be with girls who share his enthusiasm — though he doesn't expect them to be great experts on the games, or brilliant players!

Music's a very big part of David's life — as you may well have guessed! — and David's favourite girlfriends always share his love of it.

Well, those are some of the qualities David is looking for in his ideal girlfriend. He's looking for a bright, happy, natural girl, with a terrific sense of humour and fun, the kind of girl who will learn to understand him perfectly, the kind he'll always love to be with.

Does she sound at all like you?

are you david's kind of girl?
