

I KISSED...

YES, she did!
An American magazine held a competition last year. And the prize was — you guessed it — a kiss from David. And the lucky winner was called Sue Poitier from Denver in Colorado.

She was flown out, on the magazine's expense to Los Angeles, and the Partridge Family TV set to meet David. When she got there, well, let Sue take the story over:-

"It was wonderful. It was more than a dream come true. Imagine, me of all people, actually holding David Cassidy's hand!

"And he really was beautiful. His smile was just so lovely. I don't know what all those people who say he's got spots are talking about. When I met him, there wasn't a blemish on his face...

David

"I first saw him when Sharon Lee (the magazine's editor) took us on to the set. He came straight over and smiled at us both. He kissed Sharon on both cheeks first, then it was my turn.

"I could hardly believe it. There he was, holding my hands. My stomach felt like a hundred butterflies had taken off at once. His hands felt slightly rough over mine, but strong and firm. My hands were all sticky because I was so nervous, but he didn't seem to mind.
