

ON SINGING...

"I hope that all the people who have seen one of my concerts know that every song I sing has a great deal of meaning to me..."

"I know some people think my life is one big social whirl of parties, fun and games. But those people just don't know me at all."

ON CONCERTS...

"I think concerts are a groove. I guess I'll always love giving them. But the hurrying, packing, unpacking can really get to me sometimes—especially if I've forgotten something."

ON LONELINESS...

"All animals from tiny bees to large horses, recognise someone who cares for them. I guess that's why every pet or animal I've ever had, has loved me as much as I've loved them."

"But sometimes, when I'm by myself at night, I feel more lonely than even I can bear to remember."

ON WAKING...

"I love the morning. But, I have to admit, that often as not it takes an earthquake to get me going early in the morning!"
