

Performing is always exciting because there's so much going on!

This is one of the auditoriums I appeared at just hours before show time. Good thing the people turned up... I was getting lonely!