

SIGN HERE, SAID TONY PRINCE . . .

. . . So I wrote
my name
on his tummy!

At the radio studios in Luxembourg I met all the DJ's and taped interviews for release later. One of the top DJs, Tony Prince, made me autograph his stomach. How crazy can you get?

I said to him: "What's the idea?" and he said: "Well, all the girls scream when they see the name David Cassidy. I'm doing a show in front of a live audience next week and I'm going to pull out my shirt, show them my tummy, and get a few screams for Tony Prince for a change!"

Just as I left the guy on the studio switchboard came to shake hands. "Glad to meet you," he said. "You've jammed my board with callers all the time you've been on the air and I haven't had a spare line."

