

THE PICTURE NO GIRL HAS EVER SEEN!

The curtain has fallen. The show is over. As always I run to my dressingroom, the sweat still damp on my skin. This is the moment no girl has ever seen. I would never allow it. Never! The room must be empty for me. I need to be alone. I strip and jump under a shower, the spray stinging my eyes. Slowly, slowly I come back to normal. Relax. Smile. Now at last I'm ready for company.