THE OSMONDS are getting some good use out of one of the best Christmas presents they've ever gotten: a new fully-equipped recording studio. Santa didn't do all the work, though. The boys wired the studio themselves. Recently they've been back at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, recording a new album. And by the time you read this, the youngest Osmond, JIMMY, who's been such an overwhelming success in by the way. And look for them in the ED SULLIVAN Special, which will be a film of their appearance with NANCY SINATRA at Caesar's Palace. There's a very good chance, too, that The Osmonds will be doing a summer tour—in which case you'll be able to see them live!

Here's the tentative schedule for the CREEDENCE spring tour. It opens March 19 at Madison Square Garden in Creedence Clearwater Revival is on the move. They'll be busy touring this spring.

Los Angeles, Phoenix, San Diego and Oakland in April. The tour's scheduled to conclude with a concert at Oakland, the scene of their fantastic show last year, at which the television film of them was shot. After that, Creedence is expecting to embark on another European tour, followed by appearances in Australia, New Zealand, Japan and the Far East.

It's been a big year for Creedence. Besides being voted number one group by the big music trade paper, "Bill-

Jay Osmond's taking a rare free moment to relax and read. He's been very busy lately.

Little Jimmy Osmond appears to be sharing some recording secrets with brother Donny.

Japan, should have made his American recording debut. JAY and WAYNE's dating life is looking up these days, we hear, and Wayne hasn't had much time for flying! However, Jay's been getting good use out of his new boxing gloves and now he says he wants karate lessons... One of the newest additions to the Osmond home is a fantastic, indescribable mural painted by the brothers for their parents. The theme is the personalities and interests of the brothers, and it's really fun trying to figure out what everything means.
