YOU TALK TO DAVID

until you're thirty to get married? I read that somewhere and I didn't believe it. Actually, Katherine, I did say that in an interview. But I don't mean it to sound as rigid as it does. I certainly wouldn't put falling in love on a time-table. What I really mean is that I feel I'm too young right now to think seriously about getting married. There's so much I want to do and see, so many places I want to go and so many things I want to try, marriage just isn't a part of my plans. I figure that by the time I'm thirty, ten years from now, I'll have my career and myself pretty well sorted out. It's only when I know who I am that I'll make the best husband and father.

Laura Condon of Commack, N.Y., writes:
 Dear David:

I heard that "The Partridge Family" is going off the air! Is it true? I hope not. I really like "The Partridge Family," especially you. I don't know where you got the idea that our show was going off the air, but don't believe it! The Partridge gang and I will be back next season and we hope you will be, too.

Susan Clifford of North Merrick, New York, has this question:

Dear David:

I have a problem—my braces. The boys in my class tease me unmercifully. They call me "metal mouth" and "tinsel teeth" and it's very annoying. Can you tell me anything I can say back to them? Please?

I realize it's not going to help very much, but the only thing I can advise you to do is try to ignore the boys and the things they say. There's really nothing else you can do. Some sick people in this world seem to get a kick out of being cruel to others. Fighting back will only goad them on to tease you more. Reasoning with them probably won't help because they're not reasonable people. Maybe if you pretend they don't bother you, they'll get tired of their little game and stop teasing. It's certainly worth a try. In the meantime, don't judge all people by these boys.

Lori Klein of Forest Hills, N.Y., has two questions:

Dear David:

Before you had your two dogs, Sheesh and Sam, did you have any other kind of animals? Also, before you were in show business, did you have any other jobs?

To answer your first question first, Lori, I've had more animals than I could count. I've always been an avid animal-
