

I wonder if any of the other groups are as witty as we are?

The Four Aces have more topical humor!

The Four Aces?! But they were popular twenty years ago!

I know!!

Teeth, why is Tricky carrying the drums?

We have to give her something to do! She hardly has any lines!

Hmmm! That's a very strange-looking drum she's carrying!

That's not a drum! That's something we gotta have with us at all times!

What is it? A giant jar of ACNE CREAM! When you've got this many young people on a show, it's a necessity!

And now, the Rated-X Club is proud to present its midnight act —The Putrid Family ...

How come them kids can play a midnight show in the middle of a school week, huh, Charlie?

Never mind that! Who wants to pay these prices to see a bunch of no-talent kids when I'm trying to forget my own brats!? Hey ... bring on the stripper!

Last evening, I woke from sleep in horror, 'Cause I'd had an awful nightmare That I was just a nameless average kid—Not famous, God forbid—

With little girls not screaming! I'm glad I was only dreaming, 'Cause I dig that I'm so big! I think I love me! I think I love me!

He thinks he loves him ...

He thinks he loves him ...

He thinks he loves him ...

He thinks he loves him ...

Teeth is "lip-sync"ing exceptionally well tonight, don't you think?

We should talk! At least he's mouthing to his OWN voice!

That's right! I wonder who they have singing for us?

I can't tell! I'm tone deaf!

No plot yet, but still they manage to work in at least one song per show!

It's because we get tons of mail asking that we do more music and less dialogue!

From who ... ? Music lovers?

No, dialogue lovers!
