

DAVID in ACTION

WHEN DAVID APPEARED at the Monticello Race Track in Monticello, New York, late last summer, his concert costumes did not show up in time—so the ever-cool, dashing David did his performance wearing his very own "street" clothes!

After delivering humdinger renditions of all his hits—pausing occasionally to mop his sweating brow—David retired to his motel room to relax for a few moments before leaving for the airport.

In his room, David played his guitar, read some fan letters, sipped a soda and bounced a volley ball—but soon he began to get a little apprehensive about how he would make his "getaway" through the teeming teen mob waiting for him in the motel parking lot!!
