

The show became a huge success, and everyone was happy! In fact, the fun between scenes was just as lively as the fun for the camera!

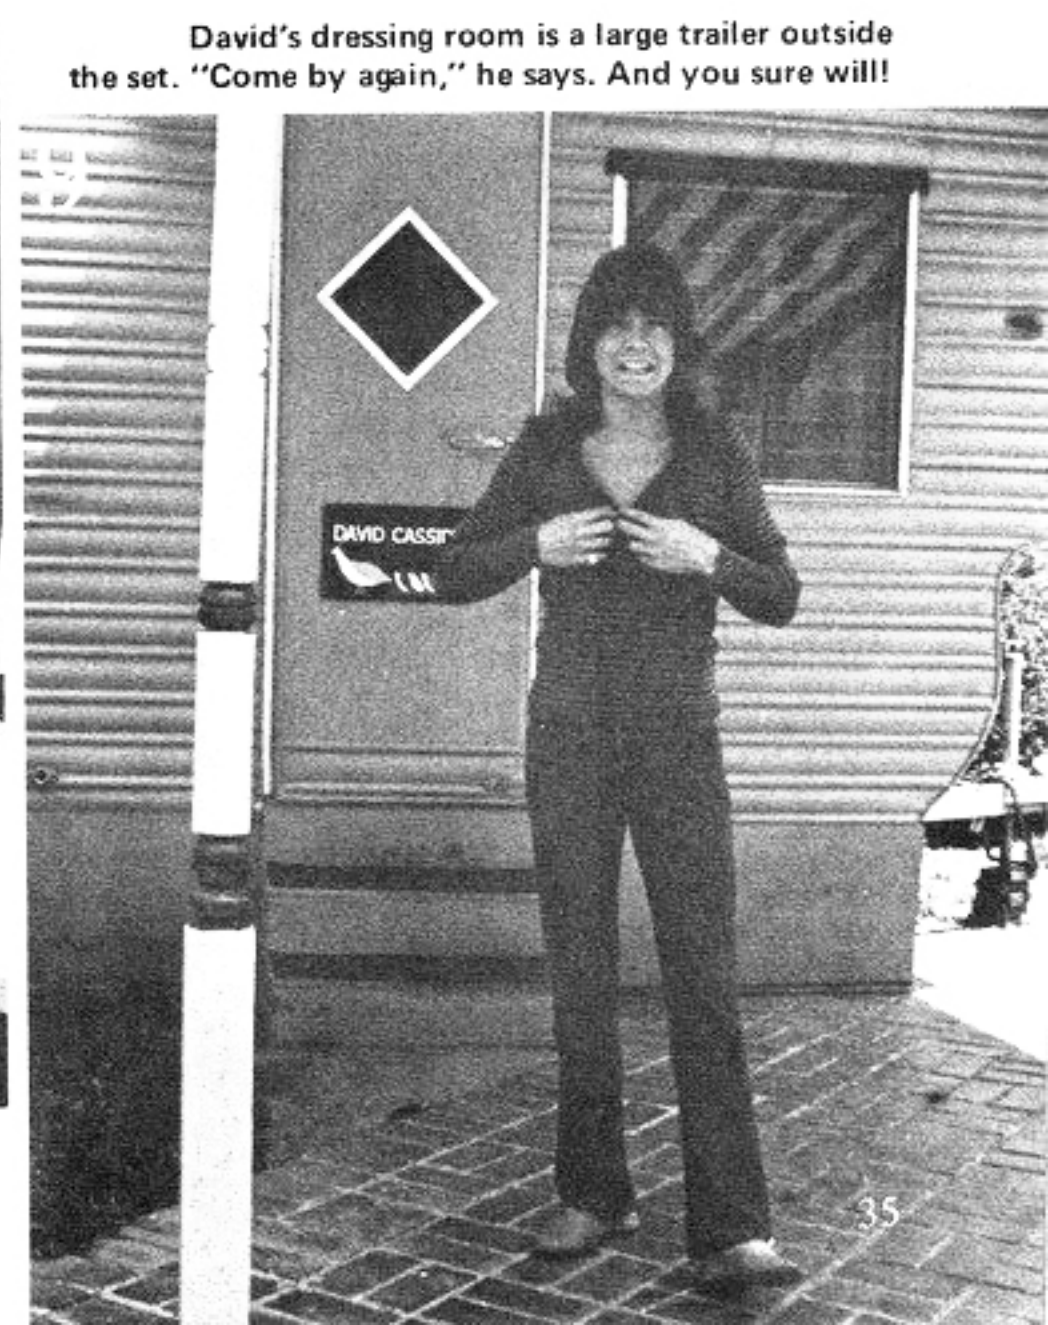

One big thrill for the gang was going on location to Las Vegas to shoot a few episodes. It was sort-of a "working holiday" for them!

David and Shirley, in real life step-son and step-mother, get along splendidly. They often enjoy quiet, intimate talks together.

The three younger Partridge members attend a studio school when not needed on the set. Don't let that blackboard fool you—they really love their teacher!

David's dressing room is a large trailer outside the set. "Come by again," he says. And you sure will!
