Hi there, SPEC-ers! Though it's hard to believe, the PF enters its third season this fall. So I thought it would be a good thing to catch you up on all the latest info on the PF. And, for those of you who haven't been paying close attention to SPEC, I've even included a few particulars about myself!

Interests: girls, music, surfing, swimming and photography

Yummy, yummy, yummy! You're going to fall off your chair when you find out about all the delicious delights coming your way this fall on the Partridge Family including such episodes as "M Is For The Many Things" and "A Penny For Your Thoughts!" Of course, the fabulous PFs are pleased as ever to be coming back your way because with each season they get closer to each other. Of course, by now you know that David and Susan are really good friends and that Susan is able to confide in David almost as if he were her real brother! And as for those PF kids Danny, Suzanne and Brian, well, they've always gotten along very well with Susan cos they're just like her real brothers and sisters at home! And darling Danny Bonaduce just gets funnier every day (of course, he has a lot of help from his good pal, Dave Madden). Pretty Suzanne is turning into quite a young lady these days and betcha it won't be too long before she has her first real boy friend! And Brian Forster gets better on the drums every day—maybe he'll be a rock star when he gets a little older. Meanwhile, Brian's really interested in his schoolwork. He actually likes reading and geography—plus he gets good grades!

Although David and Susan are very close, David is probably closest to his stepmom, Shirley. He really admires her fine acting ability and he watches her carefully on the set, for he feels he can learn a great deal from her. In their years of working together, David has also become much closer to Danny, Suzanne and Brian—he's now used to their games and tricks and takes them with a big grain of salt and large doses of laughter.

So give a big hello to all your PF favs. Don't be late for your 8:30 Friday night date with the fabulous frolicking PF gang!
