Enjoying kidney pie and other Australian delicacies at the screening of 20th Century's "Walkabout" were DEL RUSSELL and STEPHANIE STEELE of "Arnie," DAVID JOLIFFE of "Room 222," and his co-star JUDY STRANGIS. And who do you think Judy was escorted by? Yup, you guessed it . . . RICHARD HATCH!

"The Partridge Family's" SUSAN DEY really enjoyed herself at the Los Angeles Dodger's celebrity baseball game. Hope you didn't miss the six-page feature she recently did in "Look" magazine.

THE NEW SEEKERS of "Look What They've Done To My Song, Mom" fame opened a brief spot at Disneyland the same night LESLIE UGGUMS was there and drew a good bit of the young crowd from her. But there were no hard feelings and obviously plenty of people to go around—both shows were Standing Room Only.

Here's a story about three loyal CAROLE KING fans. The three girls weren't able to get tickets for any of Carole's performances at the Los Angeles Greek Theater—but they weren't easily discouraged. They came back every night hoping to pick up some cancelled reserved tickets at the door. No such luck. But the girls didn't really mind. Even though they weren't able to see their favorite singer, they heard her loud and clear every night from a choice seat on a bench right in front of the theater.

Jan-Michael Vincent is quite happy that he was given the lead in a new MGM film.

David Joliffe, Richard Hatch, Judy Strangis, Stephanie Steel and Del Russell all attended a recent screening of "Walkabout." Richard and Judy seem to spend a lot of time together.

DAVID HOLMES is drawing so much mail lately that three studios, two record companies and a radio station are hot after his talent. This new-found importance hasn't changed David one bit though. He has no intention of neglecting his fans and is actively participating in the formation of a fan club in his honor. Since his club is in the final planning stages and will soon be fact (more about that in later issues), write to David at the following address: P.O. Box 5192, Beverly Hills, California 90210, for the time being. He's one guy who loves to read all his fan mail.

"Love Story's" RYAN O'NEAL was recently dropped from the cast of MGM's new film "Deadly Honeymoon" when he demanded double his salary. JAN-MICHAEL VINCENT was hired immediately to replace him. It's great to see Jan-Michael finally getting a meaty role like this one—especially after the great job he did in the TV movie "Tribes" last season.

A funny thing happened on the set of "The MARY TYLER MOORE Show" a short time back. It seems that everything was going awkwardly during the first rehearsal with guest star BRADFORD DILLMAN who just stood around being very polite, but very confused. The confusion was cleared up, however, when Mary discovered she was reading the script for the wrong episode!

Filming for "The Boy Friend," that nostalgic musical comedy starring TWIGGY, is all wrapped up. It's scheduled to premier in New York and London around Christmas.

THE JACKSON FIVE's next album will be their first live in-concert album. It was recorded during their 40-city national tour last summer. Hope you caught the boys' first TV special, "Goin' Back To Indiana." It was great to see their youngest brother RANDY joining them on bongos. He was so well received that he may be joining them a lot more in the future.

Till next issue . . .
