

When You Marry David!

There comes a moment in every David Cassidy-lover's life when she sets aside a secret time to dream. And maybe just once, she has the courage to dream the most daring and the dearest dream of all! Picture now in your mind's eye that magic way of life you hardly ever even let yourself think about! Visualize the endlessly happy days, and the warm sweet nights that will be forever yours . . .

Sometimes David will play a new song for you he's just written! Then he'll wait for your honest opinion. You'll have to be brave then, and tell him the truth. And that includes your opinion of those rare songs you won't like at all!

(LEFT) As David's wife, you will share many intimate moments. You'll talk to him while he's getting into his costume before a concert. And he'll talk to you after the show, telling you all about what he thought and felt as he danced and sang onstage! And will he be tired!

Being married to David will give you lots of time together. But sometimes his career will take him away to make a movie, or a concert appearance. That's when you'll see him wave goodbye like this. Will you be able to hide your tears?
