

DAVID CASSIDY & YOU—

What if your dreams came true and you were actually with HIM? Would you and David Cassidy really be the perfect twosome? Just answer the questions below as honestly as you can by circling either a, b, c or d for each question. Then, turn to page 89 and see if you and David are the "two halves" to make the "perfect whole!"

THE PERFECT COMBINATION

- 1 When David shows up at your door for a date and he's dressed in old levis and a funky t-shirt, you
 - a. ask him to go home and change.
 - b. ask him to sit for an hour while you slowly change into a matching outfit.
 - c. demand why he's dressed like "that" when he knows it's a dinner date.
 - d. go out anyway—dressed as you are—in the brand new dress you bought especially for tonight.
- 2 After sharing your first kiss with David you would:
 - a. tell him how he rates in kissing with your past boy-friends.
 - b. realize his kisses look more romantic on TV.
 - c. reach out to kiss him back.
 - d. burst into tears with happiness.
- 3 After a long session at the beauty parlor you ask David for his opinion and he tells you he doesn't care for your "new" look. You
 - a. complain that he doesn't appreciate your efforts to please him.
 - b. take his hint that he likes the "real" and "natural" you.
 - c. slam the door in his face and vow never to see him again.
 - d. Immediately fly into a temper and force him to apologize.
- 4 David forgets your birthday and you
 - a. vow to forget his.
 - b. understand since his schedule is so hectic.
 - c. don't speak to him for weeks.
 - d. decide that it's all over between you.
- 5 David calls to break still another date with you and you
 - a. hang up on him.
 - b. assure him it's okay and make another date.
 - c. pout and whine until he promises to cancel his other business to keep the date.
 - d. call up another old boy-friend and tell him you're not busy.
- 6 He brings you a present and it's definitely not your style, so you
 - a. tell him so.
 - b. ask him where it was bought so you can return it.
 - c. choose not to say anything because it's the thought that counts.
 - d. can't hold back the tears because you hate it!
