WALTONS DON'T MISS "APPLE'S WAY"

Burbank, Calif.: Even though both "The Waltons" and "Apple's Way" were produced by Lorimar Productions, the Walton kids aren't sorry to see "Apple's Way" cancelled. They thought the scripts were bad and resented the fact that the show was a take-off on "The Waltons." "Besides," confide the Walton kids, "Vincent nearly choked when he had to read those stupid lines. People just aren't like the characters in 'Apple's Way' anymore." Evidently, CBS agreed, because "Apple's" is a thing of the past.

THE WALTONS

DAVID & SHAUN CASSIDY

DAVID SNUBS SHAUN

Hollywood, Calif.: People were surprised when David Cassidy refused to attend his brother's debut concert at Hollywood's Aquarius Theater. David is against Shaun performing in public until he finishes high school. Shaun is determined to become the heavy rock star that David never did become because of his Keith Partridge image. Shaun's mother, Shirley Jones, is also against his career, but did make an appearance at the concert along with her and David's long-time manager, Ruth Aarons. Wonder what Shirley thought when Shaun stripped to his underwear to sing a song he wrote called "Suicide." The Partridge Family was never like this!

TONY DeFRANCO

TONY'S FEET GETTING EXPENSIVE

Hollywood, Calif.: All 15-year-old boys grow pretty fast, but Tony DeFranco's expanding feet are getting to be quite an expensive problem. Tony and the DeFranco Family all have special dancing boots made for their concert tours and these boots cost up into the hundreds of dollars. The boots are so finely made that they will last forever, but not for Tony. He has to have a new pair made every six months because his feet are growing so fast the boots won't fit. If things keep going the way they are now, Tony will have the most costly feet in show business.

PAUL & SCOTT NEWMAN

SCOTT NEWMAN STARS IN ONLY HIS FATHER'S FILMS

Hollywood, Calif.: Scott is quickly putting this rumor to death. He's already appeared with Robert Redford in "The Great Waldo Pepper" to be released next month and he's just signed to do a guest starring role in "Marcus Welby." Producers in town are looking at Scott with added interest and although Paul Newman does enjoy having his son appear in movies with him, it seems as though Scott will have a whole new career just for himself.
