

Sex pressure film set at Main Street

A new film on the pressure to experiment with sex that teenagers face today will be shown at the Main Street Baptist Church tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

The picture, "In a Quiet Place" is intended to encourage open consideration of the teenagers attitudes about sex and lift up positive Christian guidelines for the decisions they must eventually make.

David Cassidy, familiar to TV audiences for his role in "The Partridge Family", will portray one teenage boy's confrontation with the problem of premarital sex.