THE MICHAEL COLES (Paula Kelly Jr.) are expecting their first baby in November or December.

At ABC-TV's reception for its network affiliates, Paula whispered, "I'm bursting with happiness so I'll let you announce it. I hope Michael won't mind because my mother and late dad (Hal Dickinson) and you were such good friends during the early days of The Modernaires, even before I was born."

Michael and Paula corrected many reports about their recent sea voyage. They booked passage to the Caribbean on the Queen Elizabeth 2, not on a freighter. They didn't experience that frightening voyage when the big ship plowed into a seaborne hurricane. That happened after the Coles had disembarked at N.Y.

Michael said, "The cruise was big boredom, but Paula loved it. I can't buy that British Navy impress our children through David and the series that a public display of nudity is both innocent and acceptable?"

Dave Madden said, "The only thing new about next season's Partridge Family is Screen Gems' approval to retain my mustache." He introduced me to Nena Arnold, a pretty young employee of a Hollywood bank.

"We met in my hometown in Michigan during his March of Dimes Telethon appearance," said Nena. "I moved out here to be near him."

Madden and the cast's red-haired, young Danny Bonaduce, also at the party, are cutting an album, which should get chart action. "It's a funny approach to the generation gap," explained Madden. "I think it's the only way to approach it."

Also at the event, Sherwood Schwartz, executive producer of The Brady Bunch, revealed he's now completing details for an all-cartoon, 30-minute, Saturday morning show, The Brady Kids.

"It won't be anything like The Brady Bunch, which is the story of children, parents and their problems," assured Schwartz. "Instead, the new Saturday morning cartoon show will involve children in their world of imagination, bearing out what we've known right along — that kids live in two different worlds."

★ INITIAL BRADY KIDS will run one hour.

Sherwood also disclosed that The Brady Bunch will shoot for six days in Hawaii the week of June 18 when school is out. "Our producer, Howard Leeds, is now in the Islands scouting locations," he said.

"Our new season will open with three segments shot in Hawaii. Last year, we opened with three made in the Grand Canyon."

Danny Thomas will shoot his next special in September in Hollywood and Sydney, Australia. Danny's nephew-producer, Ronny Jacobs, is now in Sydney studying locations while Danny and his wife, Rosemarie, are moving into their new $2 million dollar home.

Gene Barry shot two of his 30-minute episodes for The Adventurer in Cannes and London and is currently doing the third in Amsterdam before proceeding to the Orient. Gene plays the superstar who uses showbiz as a coverup of espionage.

★ GENE TOOK ALONG his wife, Betty, and their 5-year-old Liza. He's seeing the world again through the child's eyes. Their son, Michael, 26, is preparing to direct an original screenplay he packaged. Another son, Freddy, 19, is attending USC's motion picture school.

Cousin Maude goes into production in July at CBS Television City. Beatrice Arthur and William Macy, who are still in N.Y., are the only cast members firm.

regimentation. I'm too restless to be told I have to get up, eat and do everything at a certain hour."

Also untrue: Clarence Williams and his actress-wife, Gloria Foster, did not join the Coles on the cruise. Said Michael, "We saw them in New York before and after our trip. Clarence was there with Gloria, who opened in a N.Y. play."

David Cassidy's nude poses on the cover and in the centerfold of the current Rolling Stone magazine are sheer stupidity. So said an ABC-TV network executive at the affiliates party.

"David didn't consult us," said the spokesman. "Had he done so, our answer would have been a quick and positive, 'No!' When parents of young viewers see Cassidy in the nude, they'll start asking questions, such as: 'Is ABC trying to
