

Friday, September 15, 1972

Promoting series

Here's David Cassidy, in Frankfurt during a tour of Europe to promote the television series "The Partridge Family," in which he plays a member of a rock-performing family. Cassidy has become popular in the United States and Britain through his role in the series, which will be seen in many European countries soon.

--United Press International Photo