

Winnipeg Free Press

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1973

THE REAL FLING

LONDON (CP) — While London hotels avoided harboring the U.S. teeny-bopper pop idol David Cassidy during his British tour, the Dorchester, one of the capital's finest hotels, agreed to put up his mother. Youthful fans, convinced David would visit his mum, besieged the place. During several fruitless days waiting, the fans amused themselves by bouncing soft drink cans off the roofs of waiting Rolls-Royces.