

Going our way

From BOB MacDONALD.

"Oh what a beautiful morning . . ."

Bing Crosby just had to burst into song as he walked out of hospital today (right) with his wife Katharine.

The old groaner, 72, had spent a month recuperating from a six-metre fall into an orchestra pit.

It was a beautiful morning, too, for young teenybopper idol David Cassidy.

Smiling

Cassidy, 26, didn't exactly sing for joy, but he and actress Kay Lenz were smiling happily as they stepped out of a Las Vegas church this week as man and wife.

Cassidy wore a black suit and his wife, 24, a white lace dress.

It was the first marriage for both.

While Cassidy honeymoon, Crosby will be resting in his home in Hillsborough, California.

Doctors said he would continue with