

Chronicle-Telegram

Tue., Nov. 15, 1977

David Cassidy won't let his wife, Kay Lenz, watch his "Partridge Family" reruns because the serious young-husband prefers to forget that he was once the dreamboat of the bubble gum set. The 24-year-old Kay, co-starring with George Kennedy in the Bing Crosby production "Mean Dog Blues," says David tells her to "read a good book but don't watch that twerp on TV. I'll bet Frank Avalon doesn't let his wife watch those beach bum surfers he made."