

DAVID Cassidy's faithful fans might want to note that their favorite is returning to the stage (he began his career on Broadway as a child actor) in May. Cassidy will play the title role in the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera production of George M. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones." This may be the shot in the arm his career needs.