

REUNION — Actress Shirley Jones' appearance in Pittsburgh over the weekend included a reunion with another entertainer known as a member of her family both off stage and on television. Ms. Jones, a native of Smithton singing at Heinz Hall over the weekend as part of the Pittsburgh

Symphony Orchestra's Pop Series, was joined onstage Sunday by her stepson, David Cassidy, for a duet of "The Christmas Song." Cassidy opens in the title role at Heinz Hall tonight in a road production of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." The last time Ms. Jones and Cassidy appeared together was on the popular television series "The Partridge Family" in the early 1970s. Ms. Jones, a graduate of South Huntingdon High School, is best known for her role as Laurie in the movie "Oklahoma." Cassidy is the son of the late actor Jack Cassidy. (UPI Photo)
