

DAVID CASSIDY became the idol of millions in the 1970's with smash hits Could It Be Forever, Rock Me Baby and How Can I Be Sure, but the pressures of life at the top proved too much for the handsome singer.

The hits stopped. He had a nervous breakdown, his marriage broke up and he quit the business.

● FEAR

Now, however, David is back. His recent single The Last Kiss was a big hit and he's embarking soon on his first British tour in 10 years.

David said: "My great fear was that I'd end up doing a pathetic Golden Oldies tour—when you see other people doing that, it's really sad."