

KISS IT BETTER

Spare a thought for one time heart throb David Cassidy, now preparing to make a pop comeback with the release of his first single in eight years.

Currently living in London, it seems that poor David has somehow done his back in and has great difficulty in bending over. So severe is his discomfort that the ex-member of the gruesome Partridge Family has to consult a top chiropractor three times a week.

Here's hoping he has better luck with his single, entitled 'The Last Kiss;' it comes out on February 1.
