hits comeback trail

Andy Gibb, Leif Garrett and David Cassidy. What do they all have in common, aside from having to register their dimples with the police as dangerous weapons? All three teen pin-ups enjoyed sudden success and careers that proved as brief as they were bright.

David Cassidy, heartthrob emeritus, exhibited that rarest characteristic among teen idols: The ability to make a comeback.

After an absence of almost 10 years, the former star of The Partridge Family television series has revived a recording career that many thought long since dead and buried. Just signed to Arista Records in Europe, he has had a smash hit with his first record "The Last Kiss," which looks set to hit the Top 3. An album is scheduled for the beginning of May with Wham's George Michael, the current Midas of the Top 40 and himself no stranger to the bedrooms of teenage girls — in poster form, of course, contributing two songs. By the way, what ever happened to Bobby Sherman?
