

YOUR LETTERS

DAVID'S SCARS

Dear Pat,

I have heard that David has a scar over his left eye and another one on his stomach. If this is true, please can you tell me how he got the scars? I hope he wasn't badly hurt when it happened.

SIAN HUGHES,
WREXHAM.

Everyone who has been following David's life story in our mags will know how he got the first scar. It's the result of an accident David had when he was only five years old. A friend accidentally hit him over the eye with a golf club and David had to have several stitches in the wound. Unfortunately it didn't heal very well, and formed a small scar. Luckily no serious damage was done. The bigger scar on the right hand side of David's stomach is the result of the operation he had last year on his gall-bladder. Don't worry, he's perfectly fit now! ED

BLUE OR BROWN?

Dear Pat,

I wonder if you (or David!) could answer a question that my friend and I had been arguing over (or ages). It is—what colour is David's stieson? I think it is pale brown, but my friend says it is blue. We want to know because we both want to buy one like his.

LUCINDA ROBERTS,
KENT.

Better start ransacking your local shops for BLUE stiesons, 'cos that's the correct colour! ED

SPECIALLY DAVID'S

Dear Pat,

In the Oct. issue David said that on his "Rock Me Baby" album there was one track which was really him. Now I've heard the album, I can't decide which one it could be because they're all great. Please could you tell me which one it is?

SUSAN DOUGHTY,
SOUTHPORT, LANCs.

The track David says applies directly to him is, "I'm Time Loser", which he wrote himself. Only trouble is, he won't tell us WHY the song applies to him. When we asked him, he just grinned! But we're working on it!! ED

David raises a question with his mate Dave Bridger. This pic is also from the ITV documentary.

WORDS

Dear Pat,

After I had read Kay Hall's letter in the March mag, I rushed to the record player with my 'Cherish' L.P. and played the track, 'My First Night Alone Without You'. There wasn't any talking before the song actually started, but in the fifth line he sings what at first hearing could be taken as, "Kathleen has gone away". In actual fact, if you listen closely, the words are, "Half of me has gone away". What does everyone else think?

LINDA BURCH, HARROW.

As you can imagine, we were flooded with letters about this query, and almost everyone, including us, thinks it is, "Half of me" and not "Kathleen". ED

POETIC GIFT

A (Belated) Birthday Poem for David for April 12th. On this day at 6 a.m.

Twenty-three years back,
A tubby, red-haired baby boy
Received his first great smack.

And for his mum
To her great glee
Sang out his very first
High "C"!

Years went by, he grew and grew
By thousands he is cherished,
His songs and gigs and acting loved,
His name will never perish.

And so today at twenty-three
(Those critics earn their money)
I hope, dear David, that for you
Each day'll be bright and sunny!

MARY KELLY,
GRAVESEND, KENT.