Hello there!

Didn't I tell you that things were really happening on the Cassidy front?

The record news is absolutely fantastic right now for any David Cassidy and Partridge Family fan! For a start, Bell Records are planning a solo single by David for release by the end of this month. When I last talked to Dave Bridger about it, he explained that Bell hadn't been able to decide which of David's fantastic tracks to take for the 'A' side . . . Simply 'cos they are all so good that every one of them is worth an 'A' side!

It won't necessarily be the same number that the States have chosen to put out as a single, because the Bell office in London makes its own decision on these matters. By the time you're reading this, that decision will have been made and the records should be in the process of being pressed — the first stage on their route to your record player!

Anyhow, whichever title goes on the single, you needn't feel that you're missing out on all the other goodies — not for long anyway! Because, as David's told you himself in his letter this month, there's an album up and coming, due to follow fast on the heels of the single. Bell hope to have that one in the shops by November at the very latest. So there's one item to put at the top of your Christmas pressie list already! There's no harm getting one step ahead . . .

Well, the album might be Bell's Christmas present to you, but they reckoned that you deserved a special un-Christmas present in advance, seeing as how you'd waited so patiently all this time for some new records from David. So the single won't be coming to you in any old ordinary dust jacket . . . Oh, no!

It's going to be packaged in a full colour bag with some super colour photos of David as decoration! So far, they've picked a couple of shots that were taken during one of David's Wembley gigs, and right now they're looking for one or two other extra-special pix to make this single into a very important addition to your collection!

So, all together now . . . Three Cheers for Bell! We can't get too much of David on disc!

There's just one piece of not-so-good news to set against all this . . . It does look very unlikely that David will be able to get over to see us in September, after all. Of course, it's very sad, but we musn't forget that David did warn us all along that it might turn out this way. Now, if he does make it, it'll seem like a really big bonus. And, if not . . . Well, there's always January to look forward to!

Susie
