

YOUR LETTERS

TO DAVID

A taste of honey, lingering wine,
A bird in flight through space and time.
Love and laughter, things that please,
Elusive dreams and fantasies.

Velvet rhapsodies of Spring,
A butterfly with painted wing,
Wild thyme and roses, spiced perfume,
A rainbow poised to catch the moon.

A flame in vivid glowing hues,
Ripe cherry trees and autumn leaves
and midnight blues,
A jewel so rare, a shimmering star.
To me all these are what you are.

VALERIE HODGKINSON,
PEMBROKE.

DAVID'S AID

Dear Ed,

You asked in June's edition of the David Cassidy Magazine if David has helped anyone else regarding bad will power. Well, I must say he certainly helped me. Up until about a year ago I used to bite my nails almost down to the elbow!! But after reading somewhere that David doesn't bite his nails, I finally saw sense.

This month I will be taking G.C.E.'s. Although I'm terribly nervous I will still be able to resist the temptation, as I will have a picture of David on my desk to keep an eye on me!

SANDRA McLENNAN,
YORKSHIRE.

Good luck with your exams, Sandra! Hope David will help you get good results too! ED

RIGHT-HAND MAN

Dear Ed,

I've been trying to work out for ages now whether David is left or right-handed. On some pictures I've seen he is using his right hand and on others his left.

Is it true that he can, in fact, use both equally well? JEANETTE GABBITAS, NOTTINGHAM.

David is right-handed! For proof turn to page 21 of issue no. 9 where you will see David writing something. And guess what? His pen is in his right hand!! ED

LIFE WITH DAVID(S)

Dear Ed,

I thought I'd like to tell you what it's like living with David Cassidy. It means being woken up very early in the morning to his cry for breakfast and keeping him away from next door's guinea pigs. Feeding him twice a day, making sure that he doesn't get too much which might kill him and cleaning him out often so he doesn't smell.

In case you're thinking I'm mad I think I better tell you that David Cassidy is the name of my goldfish, my cat and everything else I love.

SUSAN BELL,
LINCS.

GREAT NEWS

Dear Pat,

Here's some great news that I thought you and all fans of David might like to share. You see, my friends and I have got official permission to start a David Cassidy travelling discotheque, just for fans of David and the Partridge Family. We'll be travelling round England, Scotland and Wales, playing at a different venue every month.

Of course, the only sounds we'll be playing will be David and the Partridge Family records! There'll be competitions too, with prizes of things like David Cassidy T-Shirts. We hope to start in September. If anybody would like further information, please could they write to me, enclosing a S.A.E.

BARBARA FARROW,
60 Stanley Avenue, Thames View Estate, Barking,
Essex.

We think it's a great idea, Barbara. By the way, I think we ought to tell anyone who saw the programme, that you were the David fan who was featured on 'Man Alive' on BBC2 a few weeks ago. Good luck with the disco. ED
