Hi there!

As you've probably noticed, we've published the winning entries in our PORTRAITS OF DAVID competition. We thought all the entries were fantastic, and Mike and the studio really had a hard time picking the five best. The one at the left was the one we all reckoned was the best, and if you turn to page five, you can see the other four winners.

The winners' names are Pauline Westley, of Teddington, Middlesex; Helen Parker, Scalby, Yorkshire; Jannion Harris, Angmering, Sussex; Sandra Consani, Glasgow; and K. White, Birkenhead, Cheshire. We've already sent off the prizes, so all we can add now are our congratulations. We were really surprised at the number of entries, as well as the places they came from.

We had entries from places as far away as Spain, and quite a few from Holland and Germany. Of course, all that just goes to show what wide audience David has — we guess you could say he's got international appeal. It's kind of nice to know we've got more in Common than a Market!

After this good news, we can make our apologies without feeling complete fools. If you remember the last page of last month's magazine, you'll know why. Remember, there were two pictures of David with a girl, right? Well, we said that the girl was "a lucky journalist".

As so many of you have pointed out (including Dave Bridger!), the girl in the pic with David Cassidy was actually Kim, of Kim and Dave (Remember, they were the first group on at David's last British concert tour). There are some pretty red faces around here, I can tell you! But we all reckon that the important thing is to make sure that all the facts are presented. So you can be sure you'll get the truth in these pages — even if it is a month late!

If you have any doubts about what a great guy David is, just turn to page seven. There you'll find a pic of David with an old school mate of his, Roger Meyers. Roger is retarded, but he's very active in the Special Olympics For Retarded Children that's held in California this year. When Roger asked David to become the national youth chairman, David was quick to agree. As you'll read on page 6, David has been very active in spreading the word about the games, and that's one of the nicest pieces of news we've heard about anyone for quite awhile.

And just quickly, let's all give a warm welcome to Rick Seagull, the newest member of the Partridge Family. Rick is just four years old, and will play a newly created role in the series . . . he certainly won't be replacing David!
