Hi there!

Well, for once I've got the very special privilege of announcing the winner of our "Win David's T-Shirt" competition. As you know, Pat usually does the honours. But after a little coaxing, she let me make the announcement this time.

I know you must be waiting with baited breath for the announcement, but I'm afraid I've got a few more things to say about the competition before I put your minds to rest. We had the most entries of any competition ever in the magazine's history. Nearly 5,000 readers sent in post cards with their entries, and everyone is to be congratulated for their neat entries and correctness in following directions.

O.K. . . . now for the moment you've been waiting for (if you guessed that I was postponing it as long as possible, you're right!): the winner of David's own, autographed T-Shirt is . . . ALISON LEE, of Potters Bar, Herts. Alison will have received her prize, so there's no sense in attempting another great train robbery! But seriously, Alison deserves everyone's congratulations.

Now for some old business that desperately needs clearing up. About the end of May, I received a postal order for £3, with instructions to please try to get a ticket to the Manchester concert. Well, I would have been glad to do it, except for one thing: the girl must have been so excited that she forgot to put her address in the letter! So Christine Wegrzynski, if you'll write in and send the number of the postal order, I'll be glad to send you your money back—but please include your address this time!

Also, could whoever sent in postal order no. 92957 32090 please send me your name and address, as well as some proof that the postal order is yours.

I know that these things are a bit boring for those of you who are not concerned, but when you think how much it means to the people concerned, I'm sure you'll agree that it's worth the time and space.

I would like to take this space to thank you for all the cards, telegrams and flowers which you have all sent to David through this office. As you know, David took the death of Bernadette Whelan very hard.

It was a terrible tragedy, and even now we are still receiving letters from readers around the world who want to offer their condolences to Bernadette's parents, as well as their assurances to David that they know that he would have done anything to prevent the tragedy.

I would like to make it easier for those of you who want David to know how you feel. If anyone wants to send a little reassurance or a note to cheer David up I'll be glad to forward it to him. Just print CHEER UP in the lower left hand corner of the envelope, and send it to me at the address at the top of the page.
