Hello!

I think we have to call this issue an "in-between" issue. You see, our two features this month place firmly in the middle.

The first of them looks backward, to the living hell that surrounded David and everyone present at the White City concert. It may seem to be too little, and too late. But we thought that it was important to try and explain some of the background and situation, now that the first exaggerations and wild accusations have died down. But, as you'll read on page 24, the horror of that night will never die for David.

Our second feature is much better news for everyone. We've taken a close look at what David has said in the last few months, both to us and in other publications and programmes, and the future is very rosy looking indeed.

Of course, those of you who entered our "Win David's T-Shirt" competition will be pleased to know that we have chosen a winner. But, after not a little coaxing from Susie, I decided that, just for a change, I could let her announce the winner's name. So for that long awaited piece of news, turn to page 23.

It seems that we've got another piece of good news as well, especially for those of you who weren't able to attend any of David's concerts. We've made special arrangements to obtain some souvenir programmes, and you can purchase them from us through the post. We're selling them for the same price as they were at the concert, 50p, and you can read all about the details on page 5.

I've hurried through the contents of the magazine this month, just so I can give you an idea of what you can look forward to in the months to come. I believe that the next months are going to be the best in the history of the magazine. We have loads of original photographs, never seen before anywhere.

If you couple that with our regular features about David, his doings, comings and goings, then I think you too will agree that we've all got a lot to look forward to.

And that includes David, as well as us. For right now, he is about to realise the dreams he has had for so many years.

And as he does, we'll keep you informed, with words and pictures, of the things that add up to make David the brightest, biggest and most brilliant superstar around.

That's about all the horn blowing I can manage for the moment! But for the best in features, photos and super competitions, don't miss The David Cassidy Magazine.

And don't forget, we're on sale now on the first of the month. This way, we can reach you that much earlier.

See you next month.
