

YOUR LETTERS

Another Record?

Is it true that David Cassidy has released another record since 'Could It Be For Ever'? And I don't mean his album, 'Cherish', because I already know about that - in fact, I've nearly worn my LP out because I just go on playing it again and again!

But I thought I read somewhere that he had recorded a new solo single. So, naturally, I was straight round to the record shop - only to find that they didn't know anything about it!

Are they hopelessly and unforgettably behind the times, or did I get it wrong? Please reply to me, because I want to get every single record that David has made just as soon as it's humanly possible!

I've not missed out on any of them yet - and I don't want to start now!

Worried David Cassidy fan.

HAZEL NEWMAN,

READING,

BERKS.

Believe it or not, Hazel - both you and your record dealer are right!

You must have read about David's new single which was released in the States at the end of May. It's called 'How Can I Be Sure?' (which is, after all, exactly what you wanted to know!)

As yet, however, it's not available over here - which would explain why it's a stranger to the record shops. But Bell Records have promised that it won't be too long before they release it in Britain too. We'll let you know in advance, so you can put your orders in and beat the big rush! ED.

Thank You

Dear Editor,

How can we thank you enough - and all the other people who work on the most wonderful, fantastic, much-waited-for magazine that money can buy!

Of course, I'm talking about the David Cassidy Mag!!!

I've always bought 'Superstar' - right back from the time when it was called 'The Partridge Family' Magazine, and I must admit that I was a tiny bit upset when you started to put less of David in to make room for all those other Superstars.

Sure! I'm a fan of Ben Murphy and Pete Duel, too, and I'm crazy about Marc Bolan. But my Number One has always been - and always will be - David.

So this marvellous new arrangement is perfect as far as I'm concerned. And I can see now why you started to include other stars in 'Superstar'! Now, I can still read about all my next-best faves in there (plus bonus extras on David) as well as being able to dream my way through a whole magazine entirely devoted to the most wonderful person that ever existed - David Cassidy, of course!!!

I'm sure thousands of other girls must think exactly the same as I do. But, just in case all the others don't bother, I thought I'd write in and let you know how happy you've made me

Thanks a billion.

Love and Peace,

SHIRLEY COWPER,

PETERBOROUGH.

David Cassidy

D is for devoted, which is what I am to you.

A is for always - that's how long I'll love you true.

V is the vibrations which your voice sends through to me;

I means you're irresistible - as anyone can see!

D proves you'll be my Darling for all eternity . . .

C begins the way I'd cherish you, though it's more than words can say;

Adore is what I'll do to you for ever and a day.

S is the sweet feelings that you conjure up in me -

Splendid, super, sexy; for me you are all three! I admit you are my idol - you were right from the start.

D shows how determined I could be if we ever had to part,

Y is the yearning for you which is deep within my heart.

Quiz Question

Dear Ed.,

In the quiz you had on David in the June mag, one of the questions asked how often David washed his hair. Now I thought it would probably be every three or four days at the very most. But when I checked up on the answers, you said EVERY DAY!!

Are you sure? It seems far too often. In fact, I read a beauty article that said if you washed your hair too often it would go right out of condition because you'd be stripping it of all the natural oils.

Well, I think David has got the most beautiful hair I have ever seen - it looks lovely and soft and silky. It can't possibly be out of condition! So somebody's got to be wrong!

Please don't think I'm trying to be clever and prove you wrong. It's just that I got a bit of a shock when I read that and I thought it would be worth pointing it out to you, in case there was some mistake.

I'd never knock your mag. You see, I think it's the greatest! Thanks for all the news and facts you give us about David - I can't wait to follow his life story right through. Wow!

CAROLYN STRAKER,

HUDDERSFIELD,

YORKS.

Thanks for writing, Carolyn. Some other readers may well have been wondering about this, too. But David really does wash his hair every day. Mind you, he probably wouldn't if he wasn't in a TV series.

You see, he must be sure that his hair will look exactly the same whenever he goes in front of the cameras. Shots are taken in random order during filming and it would look very odd if David's hair was noticeably different in two shots which were later run together!

He manages to keep his fantastic hair in such good condition in spite of this by taking care to use fairly mild shampoos with extra conditioner every so often. ED.

Poem from London

This poem brings all our love to you, David:

If God took away all the flowers from the ground,
Stopped the song of the birds till there wasn't a sound,
Took the trees from the hills and the fish from the sea:
It couldn't change all that you mean to me.

If God took away the day and the night,
Stopped the snow falling in winter, so white,
Stopped the rivers from flowing and the sky being blue,
It would still make no difference in the love I bear you.

No, God wouldn't take his world away!
It was made to endure and for ever to stay -
Like my love, which is constant as stars in the sky.
But if God should take YOU away -
Then I would die.
