

You a Clown

SPOKEN:

See the funny little clown, see the puppet on a string Wind him up, he'll sing, give him candy and he'll dance
But be certain not to feel if his funny face is real.

Step right up and see him, folks
Couldn't you die at all his jokes Couldn't you cry at all the tricks he'll come up with in a fix
But be certain not to stray, 'cos he'll steal your heart away.

SUNG:

I am a clown I am a clown, clown
You'll always see me smile, you'll never see me frown Sometimes my scenes are good, sometimes they're bad
Not funny ha-ha, funny sad.

I am a clown, look at the clown, clown
Always the laughing face whenever you're around
Always the same routine, I never change
Not funny ho-ho, funny strange.

Sometimes I think the world is a circus town
Sometimes I feel I belong in a side-show That man on the flying trapeze, he ain't never coming down
He knows what I know if you look inside
If I didn't hide you might decide you don't want me.

I am a clown, that's why I'm a clown, clown
Just like the fool on the hill beggin' to come down
I want to live again, oh I want to feel
Tell me you love me, make me real
Tell me you love me, make me real
Tell me you love me, make me real.

See the funny little clown, see the puppet on a string Wind him up and he will sing, give him candy he will dance
But be certain not to feel if his funny face is real.

Words and music by Tony Romeo.
Reproduced by permission of Carlin Music Corp.,
17 Saville Row, London, W.1.

