

MESSENGER

Dear Pat,

I know that David went to New York after leaving school and got a job as a messenger boy in a textile firm. Why didn't he get a better job than that?

CHRISTINE FORD, Grindon, Sunderland.

He was only there for a few months, Christine. Like so many other famous actors and singers he went through stages early on when work was hard to get, so he had to take a job—any job—to earn some money. ED.

SAVED!

Dear Pat,

I have just read that David nearly DIED recently! Apparently he was overcome by fumes from a swimming pool motor, while in Australia on tour. Is this true?

According to the article a man named Don Murfet saved him. I just want to say "Thank you, Don. I'll love you for ever!"

MARY VELLA, 78 Hurst Road, Sidcup, Kent.

I don't think that the incident was quite as serious as that, Mary, although we have heard about it too, and are obviously very grateful to Don Murfet. ED

EMIGRATING

Dear Pat,

I wonder if you can help me. My husband and I are emigrating to Cape Town, South Africa in July and I would like to know if we can obtain the David Cassidy Magazine over there. If not, could I arrange for a subscription?

I have noticed that in the past you have never printed a letter from a married fan. I'm wondering if I am David's only married admirer! Surely not? My husband also likes him very much. I hope you can give me some help with my problem as I would really miss reading about David and seeing his pictures.

MAY THOMSON, 11 Mannering Road, Shawlands, Glasgow, Scotland.

You shouldn't have any problem obtaining the mag in South Africa. If you do, just drop a line and we'll try and help! Incidentally, I'm sure that David has plenty of married fans like you. I could name a few myself! ED
