Hi there!

One person who has been a close friend of Davids for several years now is Dave Bridger of Bell Records. And even though David has now changed his record label to R.C.A. Dave Bridger still keeps in touch and always makes a point of visiting David whenever he's in the States.

He was there a couple of weeks ago and rang me on his return to tell me all about it. "How did David look?" I asked him. "Tremendously fit and suntanned," Dave told me. "The long rest has certainly done the trick and given him all the time he needed to sort out his future."

Had he heard any of the songs that David had already recorded? "Yes I certainly have," he told me, "and I think that they're just beautiful. In fact, David has developed so much over the past two years it's really incredible. I am quite certain that his new releases are going to be worldwide hits."

Unfortunately, RCA Records still haven't settled on titles or release dates yet, but the moment I get them I'll let you know.

I hope you all got our last newsletter all right. I'd just like to remind you that the next one will be the last that we will send out under the old system of newsletter vouchers. In future whenever we've got a newsletter coming up I'll let you know a month before so that you can send me a stamped addressed envelope for your copy. But please don't send in any stamped addressed envelopes yet, wait until I ask you on this page.

I understand from the organisers that the 'campaign to get David back on television' is really under way. Even if you have already sent a letter to Pauline Cole, there still isn't any reason why you shouldn't send a letter direct to the BBC or one of the ITV companies - it all helps to convince the television controllers that lots of people want to see the Partridge Family series again.

Thanks for all your letters. And I'm including everyone - even those who complain about something the fan club's done, or rather hasn't done. I don't mind any criticism, provided, of course, its reasonable. The only ones I find difficult to answer are those which ask for the impossible. I would like to assure the writers that I certainly don't hold back on publishing any photos of David. If I could get twenty shots of him with his friends in his living room I'd let you see them, but the simple fact is that David believes that his private life should be kept separate from his public appearances and I'm sure that most of you agree.

Susie
