

YOUR LETTERS

PROUD FAN

Dear Pat,

I am writing this letter to you, hoping that you will print it in your magazine. I am a boy, and I am also a David Cassidy fan. I have every album of his and lots of photos of him too. Lots of my friends take the micky out of me for this, and it gets me rather angry. Why should someone as talented as David just have a female following?

My ambition is to meet David. I hope that you print this letter so that all the girls can see that there are also boys who are Cassidy fans. And I hope that other boys who read this letter will begin to show people that they are proud to be Cassidy fans.

TONY KEEGAN, 303 Archerhill Road, Knightswood, Glasgow.

Stupid, isn't it, Tony? Firstly, it's unfair to David to suggest that he's no more than a pretty face. Secondly, it's giving the impression that girls only care about looks, not music, and thirdly, because of that, it makes guys like you feel guilty about liking a very serious musician, which is what David is! ED.

GOOD LUCK

Hi, Pat,

I'd just like to say a great big thanks to all concerned with David's new album. They all deserved a round of applause because it's the best ever.

Also he's won a brand new type of admiration for having the guts to stand up for his own rights and beliefs, as well as having acquired a whole lot of new fans who really dig his music... and not just his pretty face...! Wishing him a lot of luck for ever and ever. Byecccc, love and peace.
LYNNE, 496 Wholley New Road, Blackburn, Lancs.

I'm sure that David's glad to hear it, Lynne. Thanks for writing! ED.

BROTHERS

Dear Pat,

Please will you help me? My friend and I are having an argument because she says that David hasn't got any brothers, and I say that he does have. Which of us is correct?

YVONNE LLANDAFF, Cardiff.

You'll be pleased to hear that you're the winner, Yvonne, although only partially! David's parents, Evelyn Ward and Jack Cassidy, had one child, needless to say who that was! They were divorced in 1956 and David's father re-married. David has three step-brothers—Shawn, Patrick and Ryan from this marriage, so you both had a point!

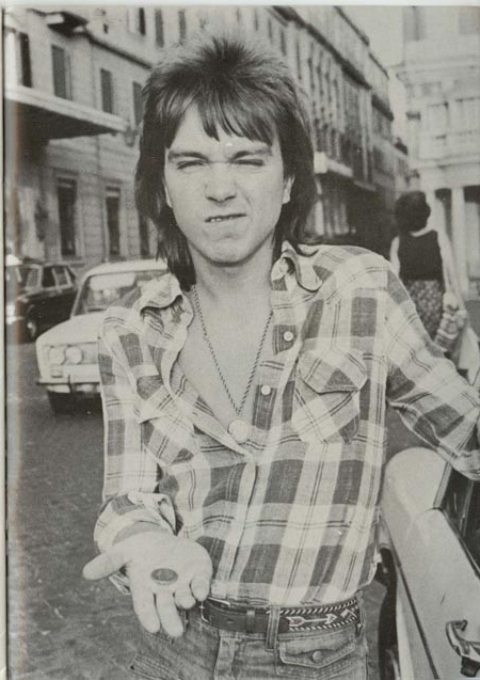

ED.

SCAR

Dear Pat,

Please could you settle an argument between my friend and I. We noticed that David has got a scar on the right side of his stomach and we both have different theories as to what the cause was. Could you settle the matter for us.
CARROLL, Bromley, Kent.

Sure can, Carroll! The scar was caused by the operation which David had to remove his gall-bladder several years back. Hope that the gory details aren't too horrifying! ED.

Here's David making out he's an Italian taxi driver - very unhappy with his tip.
