

Dating David

LOOK at the question the other way round, and it's an awful lot easier to come up with the answer . . .

What sort of girl does David turn on?

Well, just about every sort, I guess. And there, somewhere among the millions of girls who are crazy about David, there must be that single one who matches up to his ideal and who would be the girl of his choice.

Girl friends

David (as you would reasonably expect) has had a great many girlfriends in his time . . . Well, he's been taking girls seriously since he was about four! And he has eight years' 'real' dating experience behind him. So, when you talk to David about girls, you really are talking to quite an authority on the subject!

When I asked David point-blank to give me some sort of description of the kind of girl he likes to date, he gave me a slightly mischievous smile before answering:

"Well, I like girls with blonde hair because I find fair, golden hair very appealing, especially if it's long . . . and I like girls with dark hair because that can be so romantic . . . and I like girls with mid-brown hair, like mine is, because it can be kind of cute, specially if it's kept glossy and in good condition—oh, and I almost forgot to say, I like girls with red hair too . . . D'you want me to go on?"

"O.K. . . . O.K. . . ." I broke in, "You've made your point." and we both sat

WHAT SORT OF GIRL TURNS DAVID ON?

Linda Calvert's heart-to-heart interview with David in Hollywood there laughing, till David explained: "I just wanted to make it clear, once and for all, I can't give a 'description' of my ideal girl, the way so many folks seem to expect of me. Seems like I just like girls, period!"

I more or less collapsed with laughter . . . Maybe I'd got a chance with David after all!

"No, you know what I mean," he went on. "In the same way there are guys who'd be happy to date a girl on the evidence of a snapshot! Well, that's not for me—no matter how much of a wow she might be . . . I want to get to know her a bit before I start dating her anything like seriously."

I asked David if that was why he's often been out with girls he'd worked with or girls he'd been to college with . . . simply because that meant he was already sure of his ground.

"Yeah . . . you may have something there. But then, look at it this way, I don't have that many chances to get to know girls nowadays."

"What!" I exclaimed jokingly. "You can say that when at least 5,000 girls clamour for your attention after every single live concert you do."

Seriously

But, to my amazement, David took this much more seriously than I had intended:

"That's the trouble," he began, "How do you get to know one of those 5,000 girls when they come at you in a mass?

"I'm sure that every one of my fans would be great on a date—and you've no idea what a great thing it is knowing how they feel about me. But the relationship I'm talking about now is something special with just one single girl."

"Can you pin down anything at all you would hope to find in that sort of relationship?" I asked.
