

YOUR LETTERS

Urgent Message

Dear Ed.,

We are two David Cassidy fans who have an urgent message for many other fans.

Although we are very grateful to London Weekend Television for screening the Partridge Family series there must be thousands of fans who have Saturday jobs and are unable to watch it. So please can you all write to London Weekend and ask them if it would be possible for them to put it on one evening, or even midday on Sunday!

The address to write to is:

June Chaplin,
London Weekend Television,
306 Euston Road,
London N.W.1. 3BB.

And to all fans who aren't lucky enough to live in the London area — keep those letters rolling in to your local TV stations so we can ALL see David once a week! ED.

2218 Davie Pix!!!

Dear Ed.,

In the September issue, Maxine Varley said she had 477 pix of David. I can beat that record by 1,741 pix as I have no fewer than 2,218. In fact, by the time issue no. 14 is out I will have lots more, maybe even touching the 3,000 mark!!! Luckily my friends who are not David fans give me all their pix.

It took 1½ hours to count my pix 'cos I kept stopping to drool over them!!
MARIAN SHAKESPEARE,
BECKENHAM, KENT.

Where on earth do you KEEP them all, Marian? You must have a big bedroom! We really must ask everyone to stop counting now, as we're getting dizzy reading all the figures. ED.

Sad tale

I have a tale so sad to tell
I'm too upset to tell it well.
About my D.C. Book — don't laugh,
I was reading it in the bath,
I slipped, and it fell out of sight
And now it's in a sorry plight.

David is shrivelled, his clothes have shrunk,
I think that he should do a bunk!
His hair is straggly, his coat is soaked
And poor old David nearly choked.

I tried to dry him, but in vain.
He looks like he's been out in the rain.
I suppose I'll have to buy another

If I can get some money from my mother!

GILLIAN HOWARD,
WALTHAM CROSS, HERTS.

I know it's very sad, Gillian, but we just couldn't stop laughing when we read your poem. I bet it will appeal to David's sense of humour, too. ED.

What was it?

Dear Ed.,

Could you please tell me what David has got in his mouth in the September issue of the mag, on page 10?

LINDA AND LORRAINE,
BRIGHTON.

When we first saw the photo we were worried 'cos we thought it was a bee! But David assures us it is a cigar butt. ED.

Maturity

Dear Ed.,

Neil Harvey was right in his Sept. issue letter. I am glad he speaks for the male followers of David. The newspaper that called David a "Teenyboppers' idol" was way off track because an idol is something distant but David has warmth and friendliness.

I bet Neil agrees with me that David has the gift of maturity so that no real fan will ever grow away from him but will like his records better and better!

The pictures of David at home and the loyal friendship of David and Sam show that David and his friends don't pretend a "Superman" image but are exciting 'get up and go' people who would be fun to be with and are interesting to read about. I certainly think that David has a lot more male fans than Neil thinks.

EDDIE TURNBULL,
GOSFORTH, NORTHUMBERLAND.

Hope you don't mind me just printing extracts from your long letter, Eddie. It's great to know what boys, as well as girls, fans think about David. To all you guys, David would like to say a big, "HI!" ED.
