I can just hear you saying it: "Who on earth is that bloke on the other page? This IS the David Cassidy magazine isn't it?"

Well, take another look at the eyes, don't they look a little bit familiar? Yes, you have guessed right, it IS David, made up very heavily for a very unusual episode of the Partridge Family television series.

Of course, David looks completely different with his shoulder-length hair concealed beneath a very 1930's slicked-down-hair type wig. The moustache is also a very temporary addition, so don't worry! But, I won't say any more because David tells you all about it in his personal letter to you this month on page 20.

Also in this issue we have a preview of the fantastic stage performance that you can expect to see if you are one of the lucky ones who will attend David's March concerts. In addition to the Wembley concerts mentioned in Superstar and Mickie, on March 17 and 18 (two on each day commencing at 4.30 p.m. and 8 p.m.) there will be two at the Belle Vue in Manchester, on March 13 and 14, both starting at 8.30 p.m. The dates were changed after we went to press with our last issue, so I hope that anyone who wrote off for Friday tickets can make the Sunday concert instead. All seats are selling very fast so do hurry if you want to book up!

And that reminds us. Whatever you do, hold on to all your back issues of the David Cassidy Magazine. It's the only tidy way to keep a mini-library which gives you all the facts and pics on David. Something you won't be able to find anywhere else!

Incidentally, thanks for all your letters about David's magazine. We do appreciate everything you say, especially when you, like us, are a very special fan of the one and only David Cassidy.

I hope you understand that it is impossible to answer every letter. If we tried we would certainly never get this magazine out and I am sure you agree that that must come first.

Speaking of letters, a special thank you from David's pals Dave (Madden) and Susan for all the birthday cards you sent. Susan was 20 on December 10th, and Dave was . . . well, Dave sends his love! Seriously, though, we must have forwarded two or three hundred-weights of both Christmas cards and birthday greetings to David and the other Partridges, although so far no Pear Trees!!

When I spoke to David a few days ago he asked me to pass on something to you, so I will just repeat exactly what he said.

"Tell everyone that I want them all to have a beautiful Christmas and to forget any problems just for a few days. I'm very glad that the New Year is so near because it means that I am that bit closer to seeing all my friends again very soon."

And that goes for me too. My very sincere wishes to you and I promise to do my best to keep you in touch with David during the next year.
