

Runaway With:

Bobby

BEAUTIFUL BOBBY SHERMAN might surprise you when you ran away with him! No bright lights or busy places for Bobby—just a quiet spot and the two of you.

Bobby Sherman just might be parked in front of the FaVE office (or at the side of our building, where it's easier to find a space for a big car!) when you see him.

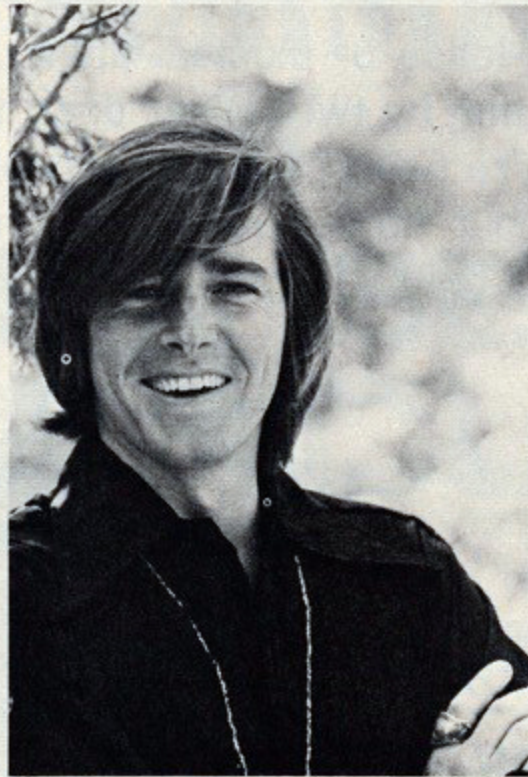

He'll open the door of his beautiful blue pearl Rolls Royce and you'll climb in, feeling like a queen. Bobby will bow as he closes your door, and he'll never take his eyes off you as he walks around the front of the car to his side.

He'll slide into the seat next to yours and gently press his foot to the accelerator, causing the car to purr. He'll smile at you and little tiny lines around his eyes will smile too.

The two of you will be off—Bobby free to play in the city and you, running away with the handsome singer for just a little while.

Bobby won't choose to take you to the glamour spots of Hollywood, however. He'll drive his elegant Rolls Royce up the driveway of his spacious home and—oops! don't touch the door handle, let Bobby open it for you. Bobby will give your arm a little squeeze that thrills you to your toes as he helps you out of his car. He'll lead you up the path and you'll stand at the front door while Bobby stretches up so he can fish the house keys out of his pocket.

"Straight to the pool!" he'll order you, and you'll find several swimsuits just your size in the dressing room. You'll walk timidly out into the sunshine—and see handsome Bobby, smiling at you because you're a little scared, sitting on the edge of his pool.

Soaking in the sun, Bobby will suddenly begin to sing—songs he's done on his albums that you've almost worn out from playing so much. How lucky! You get to hear him practice. He'll even ask your opinion (as if a look at your eyes doesn't tell it all!) and take it to heart!

Just when the sun is beginning to sink down and turn bright red, Bobby will turn to you and search your face to see if you're . . . hungry!

He's hungry, that's for sure, so the two of you will change back into your street clothes and hand in hand, run out of the house and jump into the Rolls. Can you guess where you'll be headed? A pizza parlor! You'll be giggling a little goose at the sight of the elegant Rolls sitting in front of the pizza parlor but before you'll have time to break into a laugh, you'll be back in the car, balancing the warm pizza and some frosty Coke bottles on your knees. Then you'll be off to a secluded park that Bobby knows about, where you'll eat and then sit for hours in the growing darkness, not needing anyone else in the world!

Mark

You'll recognize Mark when he pulls through the guard gate at CBS. "Hi, c'mon!" he'll say in his cheerful, light manner. You'll be running away, straight into the fab world of super Mark Lindsay. Are you in for surprises!

Mark will smile at you, warmly, and blowing a kiss, he'll leave you sitting on a chair in the studio for a moment feeling very important surrounded by so many people and so much equipment!

Then you, the runaway, will see the side of Mark Lindsay that no one ever captures when they write or tell about it. You'll see him at work. Mark the businessman. Mark the authority. People ask him questions and he gives quick replies. He gives orders, he gets a bit upset or very happy, depending on how his session is going.

Then he'll see you sitting there, trying to look like you understand what's happening, and he'll yell to everyone else, "Enough! We're leaving!" And he'll take your hand and rush out of the studio! A girl practically has to run to keep up with Mark and he takes giant-steps through the hallways and out into the sunshine.

You'll whiz in his tiny red car down Sunset Strip and traffic will be heavy. But Mark is such a fabulous driver he keeps up a conversation with no trouble, explaining all about the work

MARK WOULD let you see a different side of himself: Mark the businessman!

