

DAVID CASSIDY

PRESENTS
“MY SECRET
DIARY”

BET YA' didn't know that boys keep diaries too — didya?! Well, actually, we don't—or at least, I don't. By that, I mean I don't sit down every night and write in a little notebook what happened that day — but I do keep track of each day, and occasionally I sit down, sort things out and kind of get what I call “David Cassidy's Secret Diary” all straight in my head.

Actually, up till now, as I said, I haven't written my “diary”. But here goes for the very first time — and right here in 16 Magazine! The very first episode in my secret diary is exactly what goes on in a day in the life of me—yours truly, David Bruce Cassidy.

A DAY IN MY LIFE

Since some diaries often give an hour-by-hour “replay” of each day, I thought it might be nice to start my secret diary out by doing just that. So, hang in there, cos you're about to find out what takes place in a typical long and grueling — but very happy and satisfying — work day in the life of David Cassidy.

I get up between 6 and 6:30 each morning, brush my teeth and I somehow get myself together and down the trippy staircase of my house in the Hollywood Hills, into my car and zoom off — on my way to the Columbia Ranch. The Columbia Ranch is a great, big spread of endless indoor and outdoor studio areas where not only The Partridge Family is shot but also episodes for The Young

Me — getting myself together.
