

IN CONCERT!

They're together and they're beautiful —whether it's the first or the dozenth time you've watched the Partridges sing on TV, you still get little happy chills up your back when you hear them!

There's Shirley, the Partridges' mother, singing lead and making sure her family is musically together. David is standing next to her, singing and playing lead guitar. Danny plays bass and Susan plays organ, while Suzanne and Jeremy keep the beat strong with the tambourine and drums, respectively.

Except for the first show, when studio musicians were used, that's really the Partridges you're hearing, just as you'll soon be hearing them on their first Bell Records album!

And you're invited to sing along!
