

*35 FAVES REVEAL:

THE FANS I LOVE MOST!

BOBBY SHERMAN—I'm most in love with fans who know the true meaning of peace and love, fans who always pray that tomorrow our world will be a wonderful and happy planet. Together, maybe we can make it!

DAVID CASSIDY—I really dig all my fans but I guess my favorites are the ones who don't yell and point at me like I was a freak...or tear off my clothes for nifty souvenirs. And I LOVE happy, nice girl fans!

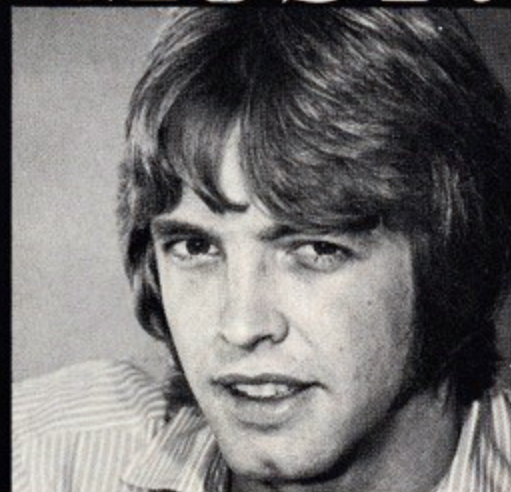

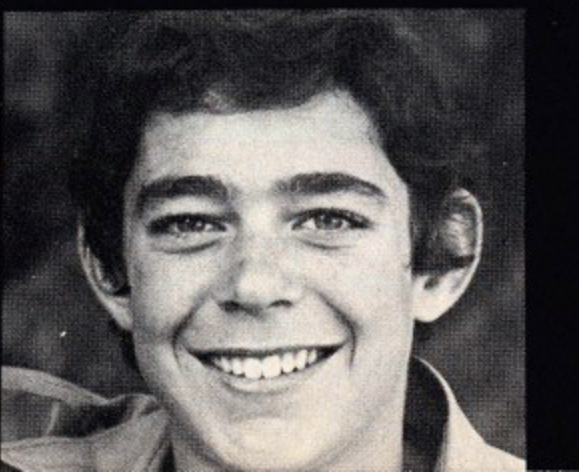

DONNY OSMOND—Fans who write to me and tell me their problems have really grown on me until I guess you could call it love. I feel so very much a part of these fans that I want to share my life with them too.

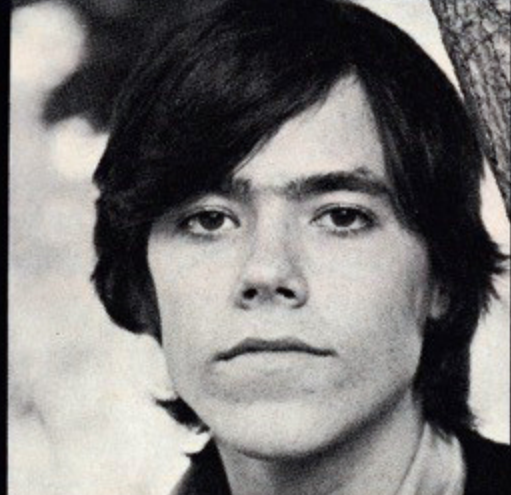

JACK WILD—I love you, all you fans out there who've sent me goodies and sweet things! 'Course, I like best the things you've made for me yourselves—like bright beads or groovy pictures you've drawn of me.

BARRY WILLIAMS—Well, I love all my fans because I wouldn't be anywhere without them. I love really young fans because they're so honest and I love older fans (some are grandparents) because they're so nice!

RICK ELY—I love fans who haven't forgotten what it means to be a child. My very favorite fans aren't afraid to scream or cry or laugh or do whatever they feel like—and not be embarrassed when someone sees.

BABBY COWSILL—The fans I love are really beautiful people who don't care what my name is or whether I'm in a group but like me for what I am. They're the people I love to stop and talk to when I have time.

MARK LESTER—The fans I love are the ones who don't care what country I'm from. Did I tell you that some people do care? But Americans don't and that's what I love about you especially. You're fabulous!
