

DAVID CASSIDY & The Partridge Family —50 PIX & FAX!

The Partridge Family: left to right, Shirley, Jeremy, Suzanne, Susan, Danny and David.

David Cassidy

David once appeared in a Broadway musical called The Fig Leaves Are Falling. The show was a flop, but he loved every minute of it!

In real life, David not only plays guitar—he also plays the drums.

David always wears a ring on his right pinky finger. It was given to him by his father, actor Jack Cassidy, on his 15th birthday—and Jack Cassidy's father had handed the ring down to him.

David hates flashy clothes and you'll usually find him in subdued colors (blues, browns or maybe white) and in casual clothes.

David's middle name is Bruce. It was given to him for "no reason"—just cos his mom and dad liked it.

David loves baseball and used to play on Hollywood's Little League team.

David digs watching football and basketball games.

David doesn't believe in astrology—he says, "You make your own destiny."

Though David was born in New York City, he spent most of his early youth in a small town in New Jersey.

David is 20 years old and hates being told that he looks younger.

He plans to stay single until he is 30!

Danny Bonaduce

Danny is a natural wit in real life—he is even funnier than he appears in the role he plays on The Partridge Family.

His real name is Dante Daniel Bonaduce, but everyone calls him Danny—

Except his mom—screen writer Betty Bonaduce. She calls him Dante.

In real life, Danny plays lead guitar and sings very, very well.

His favorite groups are the Beatles, the Who and the Cream.

His favorite individual singers are Paul McCartney and David Cassidy.

Though he's very young, Danny lists his favorite hobby as "girls".

When he meets a girl, he finds that personality is more important to him than looks.

Danny has a secret ambition to make a million dollars.
