

35 FAVES REVEAL

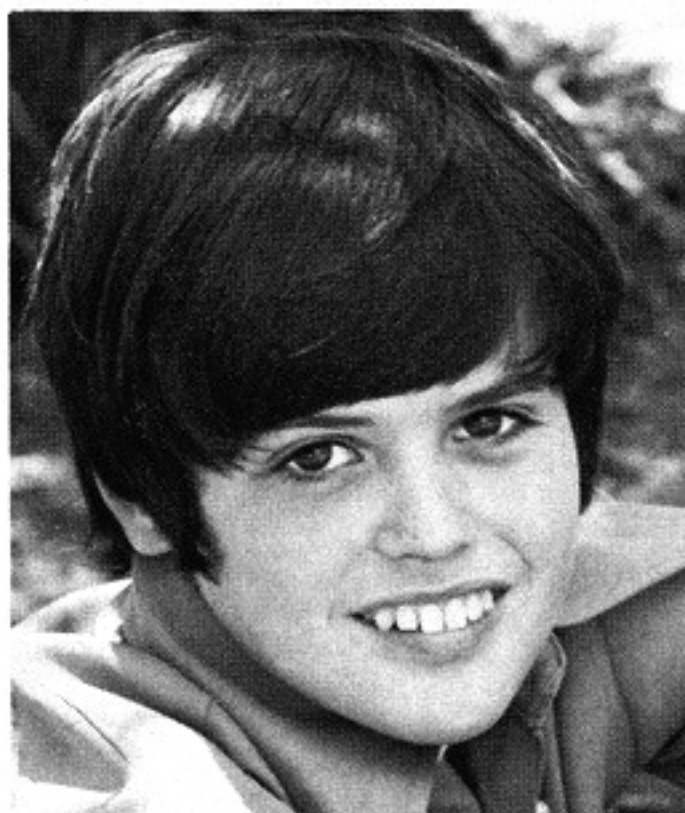

'What I'm Thankful For...'

Thanksgiving is almost here...turkey and cranberry sauce, the prayers you say before dinner... the thanks you offer for the good things of this year. Faves give thanks on this day too so we asked each of them about the very special thing that's closest to their hearts. Here's what they'll give thanks for when they sit down and bow their heads on Thanksgiving Day:

SUSAN DEY—Birds, I think, birds that sing and fly and remind me of Thanksgiving and Pilgrims. Eagles are the national seal... America is an eagle, I think, and I'm so thankful to be a part of this great country.

BARRY WILLIAMS—I am thankful and proud of the recent award I received from the Navy League for narrating their film on the sea cadet program. I was made honorary member of Bryce Canyon, top sea cadet unit.

DONNY OSMOND—Well, when I sit down to Thanksgiving Dinner, I'm particularly thankful for pumpkin! Like in pumpkin pie, if you hadn't already guessed. Wow! Do I love pumpkin pie!! It means America to me!

JACK WILD—In a way you could say I might be kind of thankful for being so short! Now that it doesn't really bother me anymore, I kind of see how it has helped me with my acting career. It makes me rather different!

DAVID CASSIDY—Dogs and friends or friends and dogs, however you say it I can't imagine existing without either. When I leave them behind I know how much I miss talking to my friends, playing with good dogs.

BOBBY SHERMAN—My parents, my sister, her family. My fans especially...my wonderful fans. I'll pray that good things happen for everybody because I'm so thankful for good things that happened to me.
