

Could Your Fave Love YOU?

Whether or not you're a believer in astrology the sign your fave is born under can tell you lots about the girl he could love...maybe you!

by Rochelle Reed

BOBBY SHERMAN—July 22—LEO

If... you're a girl with a big heart who never forgets a birthday, anniversary or just a little nonsense day (like the Tuesday you found a squirrel and named him Arthur)... you solve your problems when they happen and don't let them drag on until you want to scream... you're neat as a pin and keep even your closets straightened up... you have been known to give a flower or a rock to a friend because the flower or the rock meant a lot to you... your casual acquaintances can see you're a bloomin' romantic and those who know you really well say, "She runs deep like still waters"... you get up in the morning fresh as the sun and fall asleep early at night... you love your dog but you know your best friend is the one you love... you know that someday you'll make your own dress strictly by hand, maybe your slip too... then Bobby Sherman could love you!

DAVID CASSIDY—April 12—ARIES

If... you can start a project like knitting a sweater and keep working until you finish it... you like to fix things or grow plants, especially good spices to eat... ask for favors only if you really need them... you say your friends have more energy than you do without realizing you've got a quiet (but dynamic) power... you melt like a marshmallow when you meet someone who really loves you... you like truly strong but silent people... have known times when it seemed you'd never have a boyfriend of your own and then one day woke up to find a really groovy guy was yours... you like simple living, candlelight for everything... if you had to choose one outfit to wear forever, it would be a long, colorful, flowing dress... you love the city but feel at home in the hills... you recognize a star and talk about it for days... you sometimes wear a velvet ribbon around your neck... then David Cassidy could love you!

JACK WILD—September 30—LIBRA

If... you seem to have a knack for either messing up your life or making it beautiful—or both—in one day!... you find yourself thinking, "Yes, I should have just one boyfriend but no, I want to date several boys"... you cry (or feel like crying) when you make a stupid mistake in math... you love to meet people from other countries (doesn't matter where)... you give into wild, crazy, wonderful impulses like roller skating down the street with your five year old brother... you get discouraged about love sometimes... your nose gets cold when you're outside too long... just when you're feeling blue, you wear an orange sweater and bounce back to your sunny self... you're a good "big sister" to some boys but they wish you were their girlfriend instead (they'll never tell you, they're shy)... then Jack Wild could love you!
